Preserving Heinsburg's historic station a priority

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Heinsburg and area residents interested in preserving Heinsburg's picturesque train station met with County of St. Paul Division 1 councillor Glen Ockerman on Sept. 4, to learn what assistance might be available.

"The role of the municipality is to support and to play our role. There are grants that we can access, and our council supports community initiatives very strongly," Ockerman said. There is a new Municipal Sustainability Initiative program, "and we hope to access funding through there and through the sponsorship grant. Thirdly, we have money coming back from MuniCorr."

Ockerman said he was looking for input to take back to council, and "it's up to the community to decide" what projects need to be undertaken.

"I appreciate the council being behind this," said Mary Ann Price, administrative coordinator for the Iron Horse Trail. "I hope we can come up with a game plan."

Riverland Recreational Trail Society president Sheila Thompson and past president Marvin Bjornstad also expressed their enthusiasm.

Marjorie Scott of the Heinsburg Community Club, who was "really excited to be having a meeting tonight to talk about our hopes and dreams," said most of the station was built in 1953, and it has "been through all the designation procedure. Because it is part of the railway theme park, it was designated as a historical resource. We got the roof redone four or five years ago, with Historical Resources money matched by the community club and the county."

Roy Scott said the station building itself is in good shape, but needs repairs to its foundation, siding and one or two windows. An engineer's report on the necessary work and photos of the problem areas were passed around so everyone could see the structure's deficiencies.

Rezoning gets council's nod

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

Two bylaws rezoning property in Elk Point received their final approval at last Monday's town council meeting, following a pair of public hearings.

No one came forward to protest or support the first bylaw, which returned a parcel along Highway 41 from Institutional (I) to Highway Commercial (C2). The parcel had originally been zoned Highway Commercial, but had been rezoned to Institutional so it could be used as a church, however, it was not subsequently used for that purpose.

Lot owner Olga Dmytrash came to speak in favour of the rezoning of four lots west of 51 St. on Railway Ave. from Central Commercial (C1) to Residential (R2). She said the rezoning was "a real plus," as her vacant lot could now be used for a residential building. She had applied to have the lot rezoned some months ago, but was turned down at that time, with the matter brought back before council when another property owner in that area also asked to have a lot rezoned.

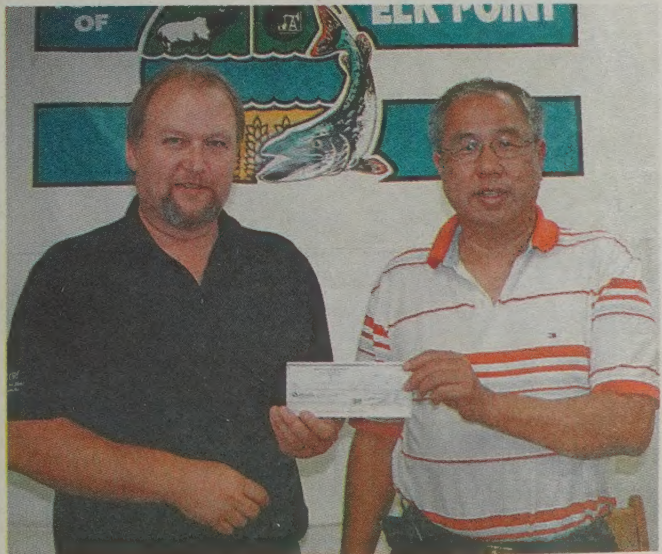

Town manager Myron Goyan told council that work was progressing on the servicing of the new subdivision, where all 17 lots have now been sold, bringing the town a total of $653,000.

Work is also underway in the highway commercial area where St. Paul and District Co-op is starting construction of their fuel cardlock station. A neighbouring business is concerned with snow blowing off that property as well as runoff from spring thaws, and Goyan was asked to convey to the Co-op the importance of addressing these issues during construction.

Council moved to clarify the usage of a business property before giving an applicant the go-ahead. The bay in a complex on 50th Ave and Hwy. 41 would be suitable for sales and office space, but not for small engine repair, council felt, due to the noise factor which could affect nearby homes.

Coun. Thomas Kondla presented the Major Community Facility Program grant application for the EcoCentre (train station) for the town's approval. Council moved to support the application, with Kondla abstaining.

Elk Point's MuniCorr representative, Dwayne Yaremkevich, delivered a $2,824.96 rebate cheque to Mayor Parrish Tung, who said the funds will go toward trail-related developments in town.

Tourist booth visits decline

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Visits to Elk Point's tourist information centre got off to a good start, with a 50 per cent increase over the previous year for the first half of the season, from June 1 to July 15. The trend was reversed in the remaining month and a half, however, with only 125 visitors for that period compared to 250 last year. Total visitation for 2007 was 331, a 14.7 per cent drop from 2006.

The majority of the visitors were from Alberta, with 187 from outside the local trading area, with small numbers coming from six other provinces, two each from Texas and California, and two offshore visitors from Germany.

Again this year, a number of the visitors came via the Iron Horse Trail. Information clerk Sharon Kondla said she feels the booth's location is a good one.

"Not only is it right by the Iron Horse Trail but the trees and the picnic tables are also very well enjoyed. Parking is never a problem. A lot of quadders and tourists in motor homes leave their vehicles parked and walk to the restaurants or go shopping."

A downside of the location is dust coming from the trail, she noted.

In Kondla's year-end report to the chamber of commerce, she suggested that a telephone and/or pay phone would be a good addition. Problems again this year with washroom maintenance and garbage pickup at the booth were reported to the town.

Forts had a good season

By THE STAFF OF FORT
GEORGE AND BUCKINGHAM
HOUSE

In spite of grey cloudy skies, a wonderful turnout took place at the Forts des Prairies Jamboree at Fort George and Buckingham House on August 26. The response was so enthusiastic this year, that next year's Jamboree will be starting before noon in order to make more room for all the performers. Walter Anderson was a great master of ceremonies and we all enjoyed all the performers - a great time was had by all. Mark your calendars for next year's Fort des Prairies Jamboree, which will be held August 24.

The 2007 season has now drawn to a close at the site. Our interpreters, Nathan, Devanie, Alison and Deanna, enjoyed meeting all the visitors who came out and participated in our three special events which were all great successes. We are pretty sure this year's Family Fur Factor Champions, the Nawrot family, will return to defend their title after enjoying the huge bison roast, generously donated by Lakeland Meat Processors, that they took home as first prize.

We are grateful to the Friends of Forts for all their hard work at the Saskatoon Festival and throughout the year. Watch for more information on their Fur Trade Rendezvous October 20th - a great evening of fur trade-themed food, fun and music put on as a fundraiser by the Friends of Forts for continued site improvements.

Early next season we will be celebrating, along with many communities along the North Saskatchewan, the Bicentennial of David Thompson crossing the Rockies to the Columbia River drainage. We are currently planning two events for May 2008 in conjunction with the David Thompson Brigade 2008's stop here on their trip down the length of North Saskatchewan River.

We all wish you a great fall and winter and hope to see you next summer. If you come down to the site to enjoy the fall colours please keep your eyes open for our work crews and their equipment as we continue to improve the site.

Council rezones

Council agreed that walking trails and upgrades at the ball park should be on the wish list for the Municipal Sponsorship Program funding.

Councillors were in agreement with a proposal by Mayor Parrish Tung that following the upcoming municipal election, the new council will tour town-owned facilities and note priorities so they can make a plan of action to fulfill future infrastructure needs.

Town of Elk Point representative Dwayne Yaremkevich presented Mayor Tung with a $2,824.96 cheque from MuniCorr, a rebate of the funds the town had put in to help purchase the railway corridor for the Iron Horse Trail. The funds will be used toward improvements for the trail, including a possible link to the recreation park.

"The community club doesn't have the resources to do anything with it at this time," Marjorie Scott noted, adding that country reeve Robert Bouchard was down to visit the station a few weeks ago and "felt it was a valuable resource."

Ockerman aid the county council "feels it shouldn't be lost, but decisions on what needs to be done has to be community-driven. We're just talking preservation right now."

"The number one thing is to preserve it," community club member Shirley Kvill said. "If we need some ideas about what we could use it for,"

Marjorie Scott agreed. "Then we would know the level of restoration we need." She added that local residents Vernon and Colleen Sharkey were unable to attend the meeting, but were in full support of either preserving or restoring the building.

"This community dreams big," Kvill said. "I dream better when the building is in good shape. We've done the roof, and I would like to see the foundation repaired."

Club member Bill Porter wondered "if there could be enough money for preservation without the community club being involved. The building actually belongs to the county."

Lane Scott said he feels the community "is behind (restoration) but is not willing to commit the money."

"It's part of Heinsburg," agreed his father, Roy, "and it's worth saving."

"It goes with the water tower," Kvill said. "It's there for people to see, and even to look at it is enough. I can see the community club being thrilled with having it stabilized."

"I've already spoken for the MuniCorr money," Ockerman said. "I hope to get the lion's share of it."

The community club members in attendance agreed the best course of action would be to write to the county, asking them for funding to get estimates on the necessary work.

Election race underway in Elk Point, Division 1

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Returning officer Myron Goyan had a busy morning yesterday as two candidates for the mayor's chair and eight candidates seeking four council seats filed their nomination papers at Elk Point's town office.

At press time, it appears that incumbent Parrish Tung will face off with his predecessor, Lyle Frisby, in the contest for mayor, while incumbents Dennis Jasinsky and Dwayne Yaremkevich will be joined on the council ballot by previous councillor Bernice Capjack and five first-time candidates: Mark Gormley, Dave Cousins, Dick Millar, Ron Fraess and Ron Lesyk.

All of these candidates have until noon today to withdraw their names before their candidacy becomes official.

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce president Sandy

Smith says the chamber already has an all-candidates forum in the works, to be held Thurs., Oct. 11, just prior to the Oct. 15 vote.

County of St. Paul

Electorates will also be going to the polls in Division 1, where incumbent Glen Ockerman will run against Laverne Kjenner, Division 3, with incumbent Cliff Martin against Reginald Lamothe and Vi Wozniak, Division 4, with incumbent Maxine Fodness against Mike Bergeron and Wayne Horner, Division 6, with incumbent Frank Sloan taking on Steve Upham, and Division 7, with incumbent Alphonse Corbiere running against David Inscho and Louis Dechaine.

Incumbents Tom Kurek, Division 2 and Robert Bouchard, Division 5, were re-elected by acclamation.

St. Paul Education Regional Division #1

Five incumbents will settle back in their school board seats again, with Darrell Youngmans, Ward A, Deb Pederson Ward B, Ron Rudkowsky, Ward C, Steve Upham, Ward F and Maureen Miller, Glen Avon Ward, declared elected by acclamation. In Ward D, Rhonda Lafrance will face off against incumbent Doug Millar, and in Ward E, Don Bono Padlesky will take on incumbent Rhea Looy.

County and school board candidates also have until noon today to withdraw from the race.

Election Day is Monday, Oct. 15.

EDITORIAL

Small town, good results

Those who noticed a dozen and a half people trotting and walking around the Terry Fox Run circuit in Elk Point on Sunday may have thought that the numbers were few and the results would be small.

The results, as might be expected, were not huge, but compared to Edmonton, for example, our town did a great job.

In Edmonton, which according to the city website, has a city population of 730,372, Monday's television news indicated that 1,000 people ran, bringing in $75,000. That works out to 0.136 per cent of the city's population, bringing in 10.26 cents per capita, although the runners actually brought in an average of $75 each.

In Elk Point, 1.19 per cent of the population (8.75 times as many as Edmonton) brought in 55.5 cents per capita (more than five times as much), although they brought in 37 per cent less per participant at $46.66 each.

Two out of three is not bad at all. Good job, everyone!

Way Back When...

Beauty, birthday and big hugs

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE ELK POINT REVIEW AND LAKELAND REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPT. 18 IN...

1987

The addition of a committee chaired by Charlene Baker and consisting of Glenn Flanders, Dave Kenyon, Jackie Aarbo, Harvey Aarbo and Leigh Babcock, to deal with horse and cattle shows brought a welcome new aspect to the Elk Point Agricultural Society. Katherine McCown, a 1986 F. G. Miller High School grad, was named a finalist in the Miss Edmonton competition.

1992

Marshall Kachmar was the first to throw his hat in the ring for the mayor's chair in the upcoming municipal election. Heritage Lodge resident Anna Bristow marked her 99th birthday, with fellow residents and guests on hand to sing, "Happy Birthday."

1997

Terry Fox Run earnings were up by half over the previous year, with a good attendance despite a chilly, damp and windy afternoon for the event. A payment plan for property taxes would be available in 1998, Town Council decided, allowing the tax to be paid in 12 monthly installments.

2002

Elmer the Safety Elephant was a big hit at Information Night, and handed out safety tips to the youngsters, along with jumbo-sized hugs. Town council took a first-hand look at the community's public playgrounds, checking out the condition of the equipment in preparation for decisions on the future of the sites.

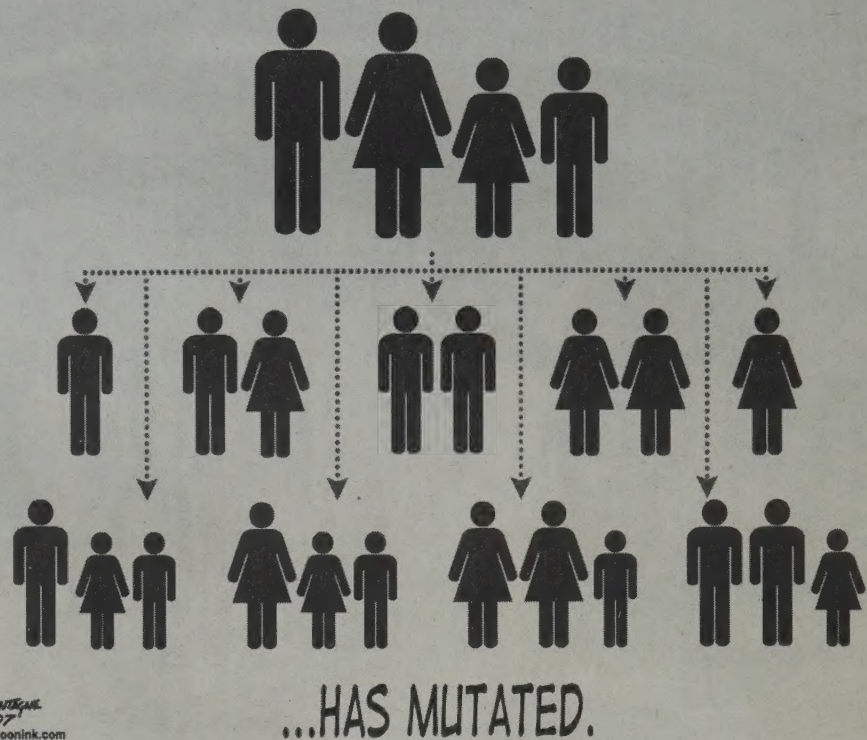

DUE TO SPACE LIMITATIONS, WE WERE UNABLE TO RUN THIS FEATURE LAST WEEK. HERE ARE THE HEADLINES FROM THE WEEK OF SEPT. 11 IN...

A work bee got a playground in the north subdivision underway, with a crowd of volunteers gathering to erect a mammoth play unit. Byron Mann of Westmin Resources presented copies of the new blue, green and gold Elk Point flag emblazoned with an elk's head, to librarian Doreen Mayner for the Elk Point Public Library, Elk Point Elementary School principal Don Conrad and Pioneer Circle representative Lena Kuziw.

CENSUS INDICATES THAT THE CANADIAN NUCLEAR FAMILY...

GUEST COLUMN

Keep on parenting!

Now that September is here and everyone has started back with their fall and winter pastimes, let us not forget our responsibilities in being parents. Being so busy in life sometimes takes away our energies for parenting. Why is parenting so important?

Thomas Jefferson's daughter Martha and Mary, were 10 and four years old when their mother died. Throughout his daughters' lives, Jefferson tended to rely on Martha to help him teach and raise Mary. On one occasion, he told his eldest daughter, "Teach (Mary) above all things to be good; because without that we can be neither valued by others or ourselves."

The question can now be asked, "What does it mean to be good?" One possible part of being good is our value of honesty. It can be said that dishonesty corrodes us. When we breach our integrity, not only do others wonder if they can trust us, but we wonder if we can trust ourselves.

Another part of being good is helping our family members learn to serve and care about others more than themselves. The sad part of this quality is when we see it not taking place in some families. In some families, bullying and abuse is taking place. The person doing the bullying or abuse acts like they have a right to hurt others. Another sad part is when we see the victim or victims receiving the bullying or abuse keep on accepting it. All the reasons why and all the possible solutions to these kinds of problems are many. But when it comes to the bottom line, it all starts with "parenting."

Parenting is important. In short, teaching values most effectively begins in the home with the family. We teach values every day by the way we live, by what we model for our children and grandchildren, siblings and nieces and nephews. The questions we may wish to ask ourselves, then, might include: "Do we tell the truth?" "Do we bring refinement and strength and optimism to the family?" "Are we kind?" etc.

It is so easy to talk about what we should be doing in families! But there is a problem. Many families are in stress because of many reasons. This all reminds me of a story about the world's first jet airliner, the British-made deHavilland Comet. When the Comet was introduced in 1949, the future seemed bright for jet travel - until three Comets disintegrated in flight, killing all aboard. The planes were grounded as puzzled engineers worked feverishly to understand why they operated flawlessly at first, only to break apart later in midair. The engineers set up fuselage in a large pool and pumped water in and out, simulating the effects of repeated cabin pressurization. At first, the experiment revealed nothing. But then it yielded a startling discovery. The repeated stress caused small cracks to form around the rectangular windows, cracks that soon widened into gaping holes. The planes could not withstand repeated pressure. They lacked structural integrity.

You and I live in a world filled with pressure - pressure to accomplish, pressure to get ahead, etc., and above all, pressure to be good parents. How do we do all of this? May I suggest: (1) today, once and for all, that you will be worthy of trust - the trust of family and friends, colleagues and business associates. In other words, be honest. (2) Do what you say you will do. In other words, don't say you will do something you wouldn't be able to and then you shouldn't have to make excuses. (3) Don't give up. In other words, each new day has its own challenges. Face them. Do your best. Keep on being your best self and keep on parenting.

NewCap supports young musicians

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Danny White of CHLW Radio visited Elk Point's school music teachers last week to present funding for new instruments, courtesy of NewCap Radio.

The instruments will be used by students who might not otherwise have the opportunity to take part in the schools' music programs due to financial constraints.

Don Buryn, who accepted the funding on behalf of Elk Point Elementary School, called the support, "awesome."

"We have to do it for the kids," replied White.

This is the second year for the sponsorship program, which is administered by Kathy Norman of NewCap's Lloydminster office. The St. Paul-based CHLW is under that umbrella, White noted.

CHLW is proud to have two Elk Point residents, Ben

Poulin and Kristin Campbell, as part of their broadcast team.

Randall Kryz of F. G. Miller High School, says this year's funding will go to purchase two violins. Last year, the grant allowed the purchase of two trumpets for the school.

The two years of funding for Elk Point Elementary has provided a bass xylophone and stand, a flute and two metallophones and stands for the music system, so "more can play at one time," Buryn says.

Music makers include more than those who play the instruments, and in this case include Elk Point's two school music instructors and NewCap Radio, which has helped fund new instruments. From left to right are Erin Labrie on bass xylophone, EPE music teacher Don Buryn, Danny White of NewCap Radio, FGM music teacher Randall Kryz, and in the foreground, violinist Jordan Angus.

Bengals start football season on a winning streak

There's nothing like starting the season off with a winning streak. After chewing up Cold Lake in the first game of the season 52 to 8, the St. Paul Bengals hunger still wasn't satisfied, they were ready to attack again a week later, the victim this time was Lac La Biche on the weekend of September 8. The Bengals gobbled them up as well, 34 to 6 the final score. But it wasn't without a few casualties. Running back "Dirty Harry" Harrison Maas with the ball on the first play of the game hit head on with a Cold Lake tackler, like two rams butting heads, helmet to helmet and "Harry" got the worst of it and was carted off on a stretcher. For precautionary measures, he was taken away by ambulance to the hospital, but returned after half time, feeling fine, now wearing a neck collar. They told him to take a week or two off but we all know he'll be back before that.

Talented Elk Point athlete Mark Proski with a touchdown, three one-point conversions and he also ran in for a two-point conversion.

A smart play by defensive player Jordan Mudryk, who read the passing play well, got into position and intercepted the ball, running in for a touchdown.

This past weekend the boys played in Cold Lake, game results were not available at press time but we'll catch up with the Orange and Black in next week's paper.

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week: "I've never been a loser, gentleman, and I don't intend to start at this late date." Last week's answer to: "It ain't over till it's over." - Yogi Berra.

4-H is on a roll.

Over the next few months, Alberta 4-H'ers in your area will be visiting farms and rural residences to collect scrap tires, TVs and computer equipment for recycling. In return, Alberta Recycling will provide funding to Alberta 4-H clubs. It's just another way the benefits of tire and electronics recycling roll back into Alberta communities.

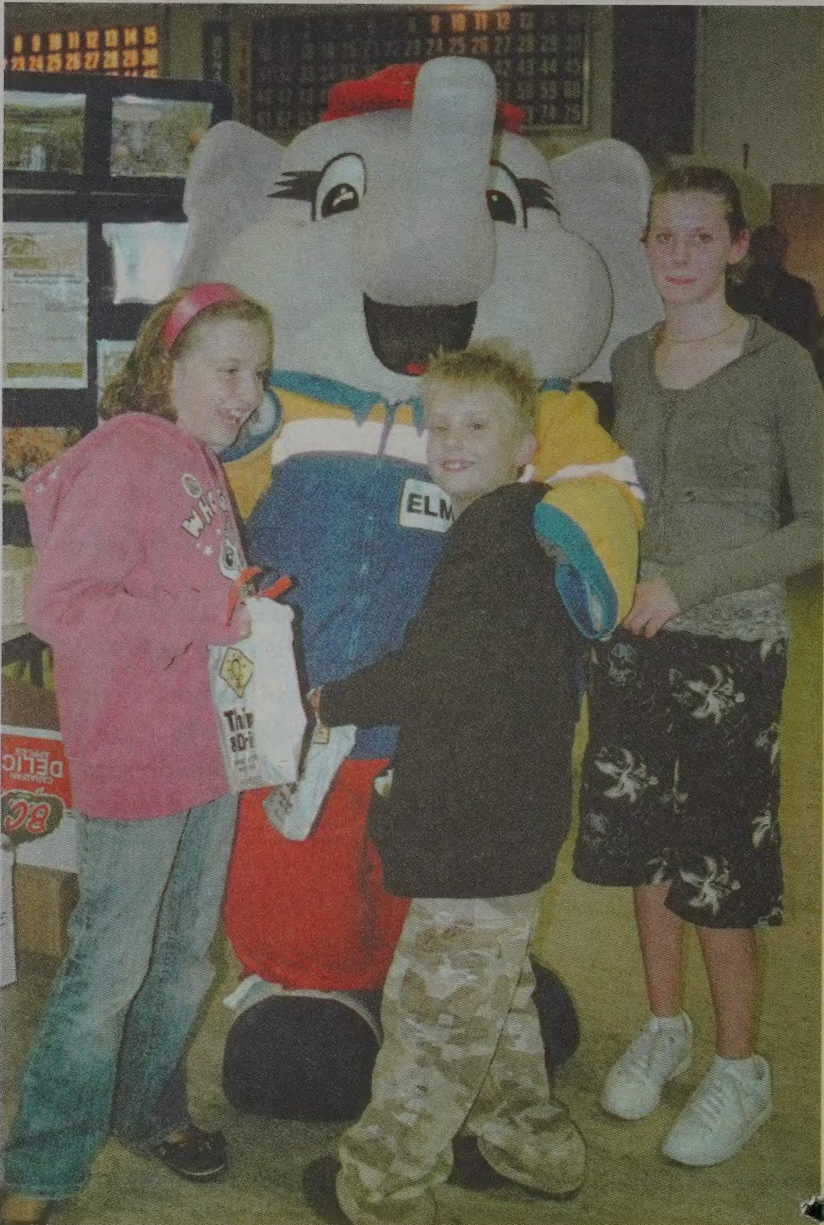

Pick up the phone and they'll pick up your scrap tires and electronics.

Information Night includes fun, prizes

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point's annual Information Night, held Tues., Sept. 11, offered a wealth of opportunities for community involvement, as well as fun, snacks and prizes of all kinds.

Almost 40 agencies, groups and organizations were represented, each offering information on their programs, activities and upcoming events.

Advice on everything from nutrition to career choices, parenting to palliative care was available, along with representatives of agencies ranging from the Native Counselling Services to Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), Victim Services and the Crisis Centre.

ATCO Electric was back again with their ever-popular display on safety, and Elmer the Safety Elephant also made a return visit.

Churches, youth groups, and adult interest groups also were on hand to meet and greet Information Night visitors.

Information Night was a family affair, with the youngsters enjoying a visit with Elmer the Safety Elephant, who had big hugs for all comers, as well as finding out more about Guides, Brownies, Sparks and Pathfinders from Margaret White and Germaine Labrie, above, or registering for activities such as 4-H, TaeKwon-Do, figure skating and hockey.

Elk Point and district: learn all about it!

Information Night provided the perfect venue to learn all about Elk Point and district and what it has to offer. Above, town manager Myron Goyan shows Bernice Capjack the new town video; at top right, Bev Smith from the Lakeland Industry and Community Association (LICA) informs Shirley Harms about that group's activities, and at bottom right, Eileen McGinn of Winalta Homes and her associates told local residents and realtors about Winalta's plans for the new subdivision.

North East Muni-Corr refunds investors

By JANANI WHITFIELD
Staff Writer

With the growth and establishment of the company that tends the Iron Horse Trail, the municipalities that originally invested in the trail are seeing those funds flow back to them.

The non-profit company North East Muni-Corr Ltd. has returned a total of $156,942 to the 10 municipalities that helped kick-start the acquisition and expansion of the Iron Horse Trail.

North East Muni-Corr was established when CN abandoned the old rail line, which ran through the Lakeland region. Ten municipalities, including the Town of Elk Point, the Town of St. Paul and the County of St. Paul, decided to try and acquire the property in order to expand the already existing Iron Horse Trail, which ran from Elk Point to Heinsburg.

"It was a trail system that was successful already," said Robert Bouchard, president of Muni-Corr. "We had something to build on."

The municipalities contributed $156,942 in start-up funds for land reclamation, appraisal, legal fees and insurance, all with the understanding that once Muni-Corr was financially stable, it would reimburse those funds.

Muni-Corr managed to get a stable financial footing of its own after selling off the adjacent land from the trail, land which it had originally acquired from CN, said

Bouchard.

Those funds were close to $1.5 million, he said, adding that the money would provide a fund to take care of trail infrastructure.

Bouchard said Muni-Corr knew the former CN property was valuable, and held on to it for a while before selling it off.

"We still sit on most of the property," he added.

The current financial stability of Muni-Corr meant that the Town of St. Paul was reimbursed for $10,358, while the County of St. Paul and the MD of Bonnyville both received back $37,666. The Town of Elk Point saw $2,824 flow back into its coffers, while the Village of Vilna received $313. Smoky Lake County received $29,819, the city of Cold Lake received $23,855, and the Village of Glendon received $1,098. The Town of Smoky Lake saw $2,511 returned, and the Town of Bonnyville got back its original investment of $10,829.

Speaking as the reeve of the County of St. Paul, Bouchard said that it was nice to see an "unexpected" amount of cash come back to the municipalities and the taxpayers.

Muni-Corr is suggesting to the municipalities that it could reinvest the funds back into the trail. In a letter to St. Paul Mayor John Trefanenko, Bouchard wrote, "Alberta's Iron Horse Trail is very well used by many tourists and is becoming a major economic driver for our region. We should not lose the opportunity this facility brings to us."

Although it's the municipalities' choice when it comes to what to do with the cash, Bouchard said, "It would be nice to see it reinvested in the attraction...to promote tourism and foster the tourism industry."

Take Care Elk Point.

School board discusses land use for new Mallaig subdivision

By JANANI WHITFIELD
Staff Writer

The County of St. Paul is looking at the possibility of developing a subdivision in Mallaig, for which it would need to use some of the school board's land.

"They seem to believe there's a demand for housing," said Jean Champagne, secretary-treasurer for St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1. Of course, the possibility of more people moving into Mallaig is one that would mean "excellent news for the school," he said.

"The school has no issue with giving that land up or with houses being there," said Champagne.

The school board can sell a parcel of the northeast corner of the school yard to the county. However, the school board is renting out the southeast parcel of land from the Catholic diocese. To sell that parcel of land to the county, the school board would have to work out a more permanent long-term lease or arrangement with the diocese to take over the land, said Champagne. He recommended that the board approve the county's purchase of the land, subject to certain conditions, including negotiations with the diocese and sale of the land based on fair market value.

School board trustees agreed with Champagne and carried a motion to a similar effect.

Budget report

Champagne presented his budget report to the school board, announcing that the school board was looking at about $100,000 less in revenue than expected in the operations and maintenance budget.

The reason for the discrepancy is because the province has made a bit of a change in how it applies a funding formula, said Champagne.

Also problematic was the fact that the school board still hadn't come to an agreement with the Alberta

Teachers Association. "It's a big question mark in the budget," said Champagne.

Family school consultant funding

In June, the County of St. Paul informed the school board that it could no longer fund a program in which family school consultants would work within St. Paul Education Regional Division schools, superintendent Doug Yeo told the school board.

The county agreed to keep the program going till the end of December, but said that at that time, it would have to pass over the funding of the program to the school board.

Yeo said that at this time, his concern was for two areas with no other counselling program in place - the Elk Point schools and École Mallaig Community School.

"They have nobody," he said. Right now, Yeo said the school board could consider providing two family school consultant positions for those schools, and possibly a third position, depending on its funding.

"We've got to do something we can afford," Yeo said, adding that it was important the program could be sustainable over a number of years. "I don't want to end up in the same state as the county."

Enrollment figures hit target

The enrollment numbers are in, and it appears that St. Paul Education Regional Division's projected numbers were right on target. The projected enrollment was for 4,008, and the numbers went up to 4,021.

"We're looking in good shape," said Yeo. There has been one staff change in St. Paul Elementary School, with one new half-time staff put in to address classroom needs.

Champagne said he would expect to see a drop-off of about 15 to 20 students in the beginning of the school year. "We should be pretty close to the budget number," he told trustees.

School board reserves

Trustee Ron Rudkowsky brought up a concern over declarations by the education minister that the province's school boards are sitting on $220 million in reserves.

"The public is beginning to believe that the school board is sitting on a lot of cash," he said. That perception causes difficulties, because the public questions why school boards aren't using those funds, instead of appealing for more money from the government, he said.

Yeo suggested that the board could write a letter to the minister to explain that although the school board may have money in reserves, a good portion of that money was allocated funds, meant for certain projects. He said other school boards could be encouraged to do the same.

St. Paul Solution

The government has examined and audited St.

Paul Elementary School and Racette School.

"We're a little concerned that the audit was limited to bricks and mortar," said Champagne. But he said that the school board had not yet seen the results of the audit and did not know if programming issues would also be addressed. The school board will have to wait and see the results of the audits before raising any concerns to the government about the process, he said.

Mennonite school modulars

Champagne said that four modulars should be in place at Two Hills Mennonite School by December. He also told the school board that code requires that a walkway is built between the two modulars; the walkway could cost as much as $200,000. The cost of the entire project, including the modulars and the walkway, will be picked up by the province as part of the St. Paul Solution, Champagne said.

Way back when...

Elk Point Golf and Country Club received a $50,000 Community Facility Enhancement Program grant to help them upgrade the course with grass greens and an irrigation system. Charlene Baker, Laura Begg and Ashley Larson were the high point champions at Elk Point Ag Society's Heritage Bluesky Classic Horse Show.

1997

Teachers, staff and students were surrounded by construction as the school year started at F. G. Miller High School before renovations were complete. RCMP Sgt.

Peter Sherstan warned speeders that a ghost car was coming to town in response to increasing public complaints, a rise in traffic accidents and a general escalation in traffic volumes in the surrounding rural area.

Fire damaged the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre just one day after the centre hosted a hugely successful Grandparents' Day walk. The chamber of commerce was back to work for the fall, with three items from their town revitalization plan, including an environmental study pit, mobile signage and traffic lights, on their first agenda of the fall.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENT

Eddy and Sandra Poulin of Elk Point are pleased to announce the marriage of their daughter Rosanna Marie to Christopher Neil Marland Son of Paul Marland and Barbara Marland of Manchester, England.

The wedding took place on July 20, 2007 in Canmore, AB. After a honeymoon in the Maldives, Rosanna and Chris returned to their home in Miri, Malaysia, where Chris is employed with Haliburton Energy Services.

TAL card has province-wide benefits

By DAPHNE SCHNURER
Librarian

Would you like to be able to order your books or DVDs from the comfort of your own home, any time of the day or night? Or are you just tired of paying $10 for one paperback? Then you need to become a library member.

For a small membership fee, "The Alberta Library (TAL) Card" is what you need to access millions of books available from Alberta libraries. If you travel or work in different places, you can visit most public, university, college and government libraries anywhere in the province and borrow the books right off the shelf, so you never need to be without a book. When returning books, just take them to any participating TAL card library, it's that simple and easy.

You can manage your own account, such as renewals or checking on the due date of your materials. Just ask the library staff for more information or assistance.

If you would be interested in an evening workshop on ordering books, managing your account or accessing some on-line databases that are also available to you with your TAL card, please leave your name and number at the library, as we will be trying to arrange a time once we have sufficient people.

Got pumpkins?

The library would be interested in a couple of pumpkins for our Halloween display, if anyone has too many and would care to share.

ENGAGEMENT

Engagement Announcement

Bernie & Lesia Sherwin of Elk Point are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Tamara Sherwin to Lawrence Rodnunsky Son of Harold & Isabel Rodnunsky of Edmonton. The wedding will take place in Edmonton in the Spring of 2008.

PRAYER

PRAYER OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN (never known to fail)

Most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times). Holy Mary I place this prayer in your hands (three times). Say this prayer three consecutive days and then you must publish and it will be granted to you. L.L.

THANK YOU

Thank You McFADYEN, Barrie

The family of Barrie McFadyen, would like to express our heartfelt thanks to all of the truly wonderful people that helped us through this difficult time.

The 911 operator, that guided us through C.P.R. until help arrived.

The paramedics that worked so hard to save his life. The two R.C.M.P. officers for their help and assistance in notifying family members. Your kindness was appreciated. All of our friends and neighbors, that gathered so quickly to lend their support and offer help.

John, Caroline and staff, for going above and beyond the call of duty to make us as comfortable as possible. Your kindness and compassion will always be remembered.

All of our friends and relatives that called, sent cards and flowers and brought food to the house.

Rev. Sam Donaldson for officiating at the service, your words would surely have made Barrie smile.

Darrel Coma for giving the eulogy, which he did so well. The active pallbearers, Cliff, Eddie, Terry, Dwayne, Ralph and Tim.

The honorary pallbearers, Gary, Randy, Ralph, Larry, Harry and Walter.

To all of the ladies that took care of the lunch, we thank you. Last but not least, Cliff, Eddie, Dwayne and Tim for coming in to do the baling. Friends like you are treasured.

The trio of runners at right were way out in front as 40 F. G. Miller High School students held their Terry Fox Run on Friday. Runners included members of the CALM 20 and Phys Ed 10 classes, who raised a total of $116.94 in pledges which will go toward cancer research.

Provincial Hunting Day celebrates safe, responsible hunting

Alberta is designating September 22 as the first Provincial Hunting Day to promote hunting and hunter awareness and educate Albertans about the important role hunting plays in wildlife management and conservation.

"We're losing the next generation of hunters to television, computers and shopping malls," said Ted Morton, minister of Sustainable Resource Development. "We hope that Provincial Hunting Day will give young Albertans the opportunity to experience the outdoors and build greater respect for wildlife."

Morton hopes Provincial Hunting Day will help change the negative perception held by some non-hunters.

"Hunters and hunting organizations work very hard to preserve natural areas and important wildlife habitat.

Hunting also helps with reducing vehicle collisions, crop depredation from deer and elk, and addressing chronic wasting disease in deer."

Alberta Sustainable Resource Development, working through its many partners, including Hunting For Tomorrow, provides opportunities for first-time hunters to learn safe, responsible hunting practices through educational and mentorship programs. To learn more about hunting opportunities in Alberta, visit www.srd.alberta.ca/fish-wildlife.

Last year, the province issued more than 381,000 big game and bird game licenses to 100,000 hunters. Big game hunting in Alberta contributes more than $100 million annually to the provincial economy.
